

Connecticut College Digital Commons @ Connecticut College

Historic Sheet Music Collection

1859

Our Way Across the Sea

Jacques-Nicolas Goulé

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/shower>

Recommended Citation

Goulé, Jacques-Nicolas, "Our Way Across the Sea" (1859). Historic Sheet Music Collection. Paper 31.
<http://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/shower/31>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Historic Sheet Music Collection by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. For more information, please contact bpancier@conncoll.edu.

The views expressed in this paper are solely those of the author.

OUR WAY ACROSS THE SEA.

1. Home, fare thee well! the ocean's storm is o'er,.... The wea - - ry pen - non
 2. We wreath no bowl to drink a gay good bye,..... For tears would fall un -

3. See where yon star its diamond light dis - plays,.... Now seen, now hid be - woos the seaward wind; Fast speeds the bark, and now the less'ning shore Sinks in the bid - den in the wine; And while re - flect - - ed was the mournful eye, The spark - ling hind the swelling sail; Hope rides in glad - ness on its streaming rays, And bids us

OUR WAY ACROSS THE SEA, Concluded.

105

wave, with those we left be-hind. Fare thee well! Land of the free; sur - - face e'en would cease to shine. Then fare thee well! Fare - well once more; The
 3. Then hope we bend, In joy to thee;

on, ... and bribes the fav'ring gale. Then hope we bend in joy to p

No tongue can tell the love I bear to thee. Fare thee well! Land of the o - - cean's swell Now hides my na - tive shore. Then fare thee well! Fare - well once And care - less wend our way a - cross the sea. Then hope we bend, In joy to thee; And careless wend our way a - cross the sea. Then hope we bend free, No tongue can tell, the love I bear to thee.

 more, The o - cean's swell now hides my na - tive shore.
 thee, And care - less wend our way a - cross the sea.

In joy to thee, And careless wend our way a - cross the sea.

Ad lib.